

Joris Ghilini

Joris Ghilini's current artistic output takes a variety of forms, from painting and sculpture to site-specific installations. It is rooted in his studio, a place of pictorial and sound experimentation, where research and questioning of the notion of iconography form the essential basis of his approach, even to the point of jeopardizing it. For him, creation is by nature imperfect, and as a result, the object of his work is to some extent defeated. Everything is a pretext for producing, reproducing, and constantly coming back to it, leading to the very idea of the palimpsest as a step forward in the progression of his work, in other words, an incessant "Work in Progress". In this way, he does not hesitate to seize on the "déjà-vu" or to overturn myth, the hero or the sacred, to demystify, divert and weaken it... in order to tell a new story.

Born in 1978, Joris Ghilini joined the Faculty of Law in Aix-en-Provence in 1996, graduating a few years later with a degree in Intellectual Property and New Technologies Law. After becoming an intellectual property consultant, he left this profession in 2009 to pursue applied research into the notion of iconography and its endangerment. Today, he lives and works in Paris.
